These techniques will work with everyone regardless of whether they are 16 or 66 - 20 months or 20 years experience.

This is not your typical incentive motivation program where you try to motivate people by offering them more money or prizes for doing the things you are already paying them to do.

This seminar deals with the basic management principles that somehow have been forgotten.

You will be given scientific proof that you can have your employees WANT to perform their jobs to the best of their ability using very simple but effective strategies.

Drawing on his 35 years experience including 6 years of intense military training, years of managing butchers, service employees, as well as a national sales force for a Fortune 500 company, Bob will show you how to motivate your team to exceed their expectations and aspire to be their best.

Bob Oros is a Certified Speaking Professional (less than 500 speakers worldwide are certified by the National Speakers Association) with 20 years as a full time professional speaker. He has presented over 2,000 speaking engagements in all 50 states and as far away as New Zealand.

Three continuing educational hours have been requested for attending from the Certifying Board for Dietary Managers and the Certifying Board for Registered Dieticians and Dietetic Technicians. Additional continuing educational hours have been requested for visiting exhibitor booths during our show. Visitation credits have been applied for all groups. However, as in years past, granting of credits remains at the discretion of the Certifying Boards.
